

Faith Journeys

Sundays, 9:30 a.m., in the Assembly Room, unless otherwise noted

We traveled the road to Jerusalem with Jesus, during Lent, and wrestled with the challenging questions put to Jesus by his own community. We are now an Easter people discerning how our Lenten journey directs (or re-directs) our days ahead. Our two Adult Education sessions in May feature individuals from our community who came to faith in other cultures. They will share the stories of their own faith journey, their own questioning and where Jesus has led them.

Bittersweet Christianity in Korea and Beyond: Wrestling with Economic, Religious, and Cultural Clashes

Sung Uk Lim and Seol Young Ryu, interviewed by Nate Stucky

In the last half of the 20th century, the rapid growth of the Korean economy accompanied by the rapid growth of Christianity in that country created an upheaval in their cultural landscape. Today we will explore the challenges of being Christian in Korea and in Korean-American churches. Come hear the stories of Sung Uk and Seol Young's personal faith journeys as children in Korea. Then learn about their ministry to Korean immigrants wrestling with our white-dominated culture and their ethnic heritage.

Sung Uk Lim, a native of Incheon, South Korea, an ordained pastor in the Korea Evangelical Holiness Church and an assistant professor of New Testament at Yonsei University, Seoul, South Korea, who is currently on sabbatical at Princeton Theological Seminary. His research and teaching interests center on the construction of Jewish and Christian identities from a multi-ethnic and gender-inclusive perspective that is conducive to religious diversity and human dignity.

Seol Young Ryu, from Busan, South Korea, is a clinical psychologist. She studied pastoral counseling at Vanderbilt Divinity School while working for children's ministry in a Korean American Presbyterian church in Nashville, Tennessee.

Nate Stucky, serves as Director of the Farminary Project at Princeton Theological Seminary. Nathan grew up on a farm in Kansas where his love for Christian faith and agriculture first took root. Nathan earned an M.Div. and a Ph.D. (Practical Theology, Christian Education and Formation) from Princeton Theological Seminary.

Bewildered Survival: Growing Up in Post-War Germany

Karlfried Froehlich

Growing up in Germany, Karlfried lived through the years of Hitler seizing power, experienced the pressure of the Nazi educational system, the initial war years with their German military triumphs but then, of course, the bitter years of retreat and defeat. As a teenager during the misery of the post-war years, he wrestled with the existential questions we all ask: What is the purpose of suffering? And how does a survivor find meaning in having survived? Come hear how his faith played a major role in his struggle to cope.

Karlfried Froehlich, a native of Saxony, Germany, studied theology, history, and classical languages at the Kirchliche Hochschule Wuppertal and the universities of Göttingen, Paris, and Basel. He earned his doctorate in theology summa cum laude at the University of Basel under Oscar Cullmann in 1963. Moving to the United States in 1964, he taught at Drew University and from 1968 to 1992 at Princeton Theological Seminary. His scholarly interests include the history of Christian art and the history of biblical interpretation.
